PORTFOLIO PROJECT PROGRESS REPORT: CONVERSION TO REACT
NUCAMP PRESS: SELF-PUBLICATION COMPANY WEBSITE

Team Members: Linda L. Smith and Jake Alexander

1. Introduction

"In today's publishing marketplace, self-published authors are leading the race[1]." When you self-published your book, you have total control over the cover design, content, and distribution of your book. The disadvantage is that you are responsible for your own marketing and promotion of your book.

Linda L. Smith and Jake Alexander are creating a website and mobile app for a self-publishing company called Nucamp Press to promote their services, showcase their work and provide educational help on authoring books.

These is an outline of the components we have converted so far:

- HeaderHomeComponent.js (completed)
    - Jumbotron image is a fitted-image that fills the whole viewport.
    - NavbarComponent.js
    - LoginComponent.js
- HeaderComponent.js

- UPDATES

- HeaderHomeComponent.js, HeaderComponent.js, FooterComponent.js, ContactComponent.js, AboutComponent.js

  - o The conversion of the above referenced components has been completed.

- Parallax Component

  - o There is an error in the Parallax component where I believe I need to do a dismount of the third party jQuery plugin so that the effect does not bleed over to the next pages. There is also a React API to do a Parallax effect that I have not been able to get to work. So either I will get the third-party jQuery plugin to work or the React API.

- Tutorials Component

  - o I have not started on this component yet. However, I have gathered assets such as YouTube video links and thumbnail images that I will use.

- GalleryComponent.js, PodcastsComponent.js

o Jake Alexander is working on these. He will give an update in his report.

- BookstoreComponent.js

    o Jake Alexander has completed the bookstore, but I have been having problems with integrating it into the main web application. I am working on that to eliminate the errors.
